

Dear Sandy,

Just wanted to say hi. Sandy, sometimes when you are away from the ones you care about you think about a lot of things. I've been thinking about us and our marriage and there is something that has been bothering me. Ever since that day I hit you, I've felt like we haven't been as close, like that put a void between us. I know I don't usually talk about this stuff but it has really gotten to me especially being apart from you. I wish it had never happened but I can tell it has put something between us. Sandy I want you to know that I love you and I would never try to hurt you again. I am hoping that when we are together again we can both drop our guard and let each other know how much we mean to ~~the~~ each other. I am going to try to find a nice place to live even if we have to pay a little extra. I want us to get a great start here because I think we can have a lot of fun and much success. Hopefully when you read this you will understand it. I really miss you and hope you feel the same way. It won't be long till we are together again and hopefully we will stop hunting ~~one~~ another in particular, me hunting you. When you get here I want us to stop hiding from each other and love ~~to~~ each other the way only we can.

I love you,
Lou

P.S. Give my love to Mandy,
